YOUR RIGHTS AS A CLIENT:

When it comes to your health information, you have certain rights. This section explains your rights and some of our responsibilities to help you.

Get an electronic or paper copy of your mental health record

- You can ask in writing to see or get an electronic or paper copy of your mental health record and other health information we have about you. To make a request, visit www.EnvisionClinic.com/Services/RequestRecords
- We will provide a copy or a summary of your health information, usually within 30 days of your request. We may charge a reasonable, cost-based fee to fulfill your request.

- If multiple people were considered clients (e.g. couples therapy or family therapy), all individuals considered clients will need to give consent for a copy of the full record to be released. In the case that one or several members of the treatment do not give consent, a summary of the record can be given which does not include the names of the other individuals included in treatment.

Ask us to correct your mental health record

USES AND DISCLOSURES OF PROTECTED HEALTH INFORMATION

A use of PHI occurs within a covered entity (i.e., discussions among staff regarding treatment). A disclosure of PHI occurs when ECC reveals PHI to an outside party (i.e., ECC provides another treatment provider with PHI, or shares PHI with a third party pursuant to a client's valid written authorization). HIPAA and federal law regulate the disclosure of PHI by electronic transmissions.

ECC may use and disclose PHI, without an individual's written authorization, for the following purposes:

1. Treatment: disclosing and using your PHI by those who are involved in your care for the purpose of providing, coordinating, or managing your health care treatment and related services. This includes consultation with clinical supervisors or other treatment team members and for coverage arrangements during ECC's absence.
 - This also includes providing appointment reminders or information about treatment alternatives or other health-related benefits and services that may be of interest to you
2. Payment: disclosing and using your PHI so that ECC can receive payment for the treatment services provided to you, such as: making a determination of eligibility or coverage for insurance benefits, processing claims with your insurance company, reviewing services provided to you to determine medical necessity, or undertaking utilization of review activities.
3. Health Care Operations: disclosing and using your PHI to support ECC's business operations which may include but not be limited to: quality assessment activities, licensing, audits, and other business activities.

Uses and disclosures for payment and health care operations purposes are subject to the minimum necessary requirement. This means that ECC may only use or disclose the minimum amount of PHI necessary for the purpose of the use or disclosure (i.e., for billing purposes, a therapist would not need to disclose a client's entire medical record in order to receive reimbursement. A therapist would likely only need to include a service code and/or diagnosis etc.). Uses and disclosures for treatment purposes are not subject to the minimum necessary requirement.

ECC is required to promptly notify you of any breach that may occur that may have compromised the privacy or security of your information.

ECC's confidentiality of client records and substance abuse client records maintained is protected by federal law and regulations. It is ECC policy that a patient must complete an Authorization for Use or Disclosure of Protected Health Information provided by ECC, prior to disclosing health information to another individual and/or entity for any purpose, except for treatment, payment, or health care operations in accordance with this Notice of Privacy Policies.

Absent the above referenced form, other than for treatment, payment, or health care operations purposes, ECC staff is prohibited from disclosing or using any PHI outside of or within the organization, including disclosing that the client is in treatment without written authorization, unless one of the following exceptions arises:

ECC is permitted and/or required to report or disclose PHI if and when any of the following occur with any ECC client:

1. Responding to lawsuit and legal actions (Disclosure by a court order, in response to a complaint filed against a counselor of ECC, etc. This does not include a request by you or another party for your records).
2. Disclosure is made to medical personnel in a medical emergency or to qualified personnel for research, audit or program evaluation.
3. Help with public health and safety issues (Client commits or threatens to commit a crime either at ECC or against any person who works for ECC; A minor or elderly client reports having been abused; Client is planning to harm another person, including but not limited to the harm of a child or at-risk elder; Client reports suicidal ideations or self harm).
4. Address workers' compensation, law enforcement, and other government requests.
5. Respond to organ and tissue donation requests.
6. In compliance with other state and/or federal laws and regulations.

The above exceptions are subject to several requirements under the Privacy Rule, including the minimum necessary requirement and applicable federal and state laws and regulations. See 45 C.F.R. § 164.512. Before using or disclosing PHI for one of the above exceptions, ECC's staff must consult ECC's Privacy Officer, Steve Johnson (steve@envisionclinic.com), to ensure compliance with the Privacy Rule. Violation of these federal and state guidelines is a crime carrying both criminal and monetary penalties. Suspected violations may be reported to appropriate authorities, as listed above in the "Client Rights" section, in accordance with federal and state regulations. Know that ECC will never market or sell your personal information without your permission.

SPECIAL AUTHORIZATIONS

Certain categories of information have extra protections by law, and thus require special written authorizations for disclosures.

Psychotherapy Notes: I will obtain a special authorization before releasing your Psychotherapy Notes and test results. "Psychotherapy Notes" may include but are not limited to notes I have made about our conversation during a private, group, joint, or family counseling session, which I have kept separate from the rest of your record. These notes are given a greater degree of protection than PHI. These are not considered part of your "client record."

HIV Information: Special legal protections apply to HIV/AIDS related information. I will obtain a special written authorization from you before releasing information related to HIV/AIDS.

Alcohol and Drug Use Information: Special legal protections apply to information related to alcohol and drug use and treatment. I will obtain a special written authorization from you before releasing information related to alcohol and/or drug use/treatment.

You may revoke all such authorizations to release information (PHI, Psychotherapy Notes, HIV information, and/or Alcohol and Drug Use Information) at any time, provided each revocation is in writing, signed by you, and signed by a witness. You may not revoke an authorization to the extent that (1) I have relied on that authorization; or (2) if the authorization was obtained as a condition of obtaining insurance coverage, the law provides the insurer the right to contest the claim under the policy.

As a covered entity under the Privacy and Security Rules, ECC is required to reasonably safeguard PHI from impermissible uses and disclosures. Safeguards may include, but are not limited to the following:

1. Not leaving lab results unattended where third parties without a need to know can view them.
2. Any PHI received as an ECC employee, intern, or volunteer about a client or potential ECC client, may not be used or disclosed for non-work purposes or with unauthorized individuals. ECC may only use and disclose such PHI as described above.
3. When speaking with a client about his or her PHI where third parties could possibly overhear, the conversation will be moved to a private area.
4. Seeking legal counsel in uncertain situations and/or incidences.
5. Obtaining a Business Associates Agreement with those third-parties that have access to and/or store client information.
6. Implement FAX security measures
7. Obtaining your consent prior to sending any PHI by non-secure electronic transmissions
8. Provide information on ECC's electronic record-keeping.

YOUR CHOICES:

For certain health information, you can tell us (verbal authorization) your choices about what we share. If you have a clear preference for how we share your information in the situations described below, talk to us. Tell us what you want us to do, and we will follow your instructions. We may request you sign a separate document if you authorize us to share certain PHI. You may revoke that authorization at any time for future disclosure.

In these cases, you have both the right and choice to tell us to:

- Share information with your family, close friends, or others involved in your care
- Share information in a disaster relief situation
- Include your information in a hospital directory

If you are not able to tell us your preference, for example if you are unconscious, we may go ahead and share your information if we believe it is in your best interest and for your care/treatment. We may also share your information when needed to lessen a serious and imminent threat to public health or safety.

In these cases of marketing, sale of information, and most sharing of psychotherapy notes, we never share your information unless you give us written permission.
